

Chapter V

On September 14, 1872, David Fritsch and Annie his wife, of Lake County, Illinois, deeded a parcel of land for a school house, to the Trustees of Schools of Township 45 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Lake County, Illinois and their successors in office. The plat read as follows:

A part of the east half of the south east quarter of section 28, in Township 45 north, range 10, east of the third principal meridian, described as commencing at a point in the center of the public highway, known as the Hainesville and Antioch Road, 40 rods and 2 feet north,  $3\frac{1}{2}$  degrees east of the center of a well in the Village of Hainesville, known as the Town Well, which well is situated at or near the center of the Old Lake and McHenry Plank Road running thence east from said point of commencement 7 rods; thence north  $3\frac{1}{2}$  degrees, east parallel with the center of said Hainesville and Antioch Road; thence south  $3\frac{1}{2}$  degrees west on the center line of said Hainesville and Antioch Road, 5 rods and 6 feet to place of beginning, for the purpose of a school site for use and benefit of School District No. 6 in said Township 45 being the Town of Avon, but for no other purpose whatever. It is understood by the parties to this deed that when said lot shall no longer be used by said School District No. 6 for the purpose of a school house site the title shall revert back to the first party, their heirs and assigns.

It is also understood that said District are at their own expense to keep up the line fences on the north and east and south sides of said lot and keep them in good repair.

On this parcel of land was erected Hainesville's second school house. It was a frame structure and was in possession of the School District till 1915.

The school had grades from one through eight. It was located north of our present day Route 120 and just east of Hainesville Road.

There was no delay when it came to the building of school houses. As soon as money was available, frame structures replaced the crude log buildings, which were first constructed, and the work of education continued.

In early times the school was usually the recognized center of the neighborhood. In them were held religious meetings, debating societies, singing schools, spelling schools, writing schools, magic lantern performances and school exhibitions. The gatherings in the evenings were usually at "early candle light," and nine o'clock was a late hour at which to close.

Friday afternoons, especially in the winter schools, were set aside for rhetorical exercises. The girls had "reading compositions" and the boys "speaking pieces". A "spelling down" performance usually followed and closed the afternoon program.

There was competition between neighboring schools, and spelling contests would on occasion occupy a winter evening. These types of gatherings served excellent purposes, not only in providing entertainment, but stimulating the participants to do their best.

In 1870, the old hotel in Hainesville was remodeled, which had been built about 1840.

While they were remodeling the hotel, they found an old rubber boot between the walls. It was covered with dirty plaster, showing that it must have been dropped there before the building was finished. The owner inquired about it and was told by an old pioneer that a dance was held there while it was being built. People came from all over the country. They had hung their cloaks, caps, and rubbers on the ends of the lath. The boot was thought to have been dropped inside the wall this way.

The rubber was as good as new when found, showing that it was made of pure rubber.

On January 6, 1875, the 29th General Assembly convened and has on record that the speaker was Honorable Elijah Haines of Lake County. To say it was riotous would be correct. There were many sober bills presented such as #295, to prohibit the Bible in public schools; Boards of Health to be given power of condemnation, #372, #488 (food); historical works to be used as evidence #84; boundary line between Illinois and Indiana to be fined, #453; to tax mocking birds, #394; to make incorporated towns and villages responsible for the destruction of property by mobs and unlawful combinations, #486; on March 31st there was much to report on the construction of the new State House.

April 10, 1875, Mr. Jones, of Jo Daviess County, leader of minority who repeatedly hurled insults at the Speaker, stated on one occasion that he would keep the floor without leave or recognition from the Speaker. On one occasion Mr. Connolly of Coles, refused to take his seat as required by the rules of the House, when declared by the Speaker to be out of order, rejoined by ordering the Speaker to sit down.

April 12, 1875, a book was hurled at a Representative on the floor, thereby creating such a confusion as to compel an adjournment of the House, where upon Mr. Connolly of Coles moved that Mr. Jones be elected temporary Speaker, and Mr. Jones attempted to take forcible possession of the chair. He was prevented by the majority members from completing this most revolutionary and dangerous action. In this attempt he was supported by the minority. The session ended April 15, 1875.

The 29th was in session 100 days at a cost of $150,000. It was not labeled a Democratic or Republican Session, but was called an opposition session.

In 1877, Hainesville was a flourishing village of about two hundred inhabitants. It had two stores and various kinds of mechanics found in a country village. The residents had manifested their public spirit by the erection of a town hall.

They named their town hall Lyceum Hall and it was built in 1877. The Literary Society of Hainesville built this hall. It was a popular recreation place for shows, dances and parties. This building was utilized until 1925.

The land was dedicated by the White family and had to revert back to the original owner when the building was removed.

From the years 1906 and 1908, Mr. Renehan converted the building into a Catholic Church. The church had 44 pews and an altar. Father Lysing of Fremont Center served the parish.

After 1908, the members attended church at Round Lake and the building reverted back to a community recreation place.

Lyceum Hall stood near the northwest corner of the intersection of Belvidere and Hainesville Roads.

Please note:

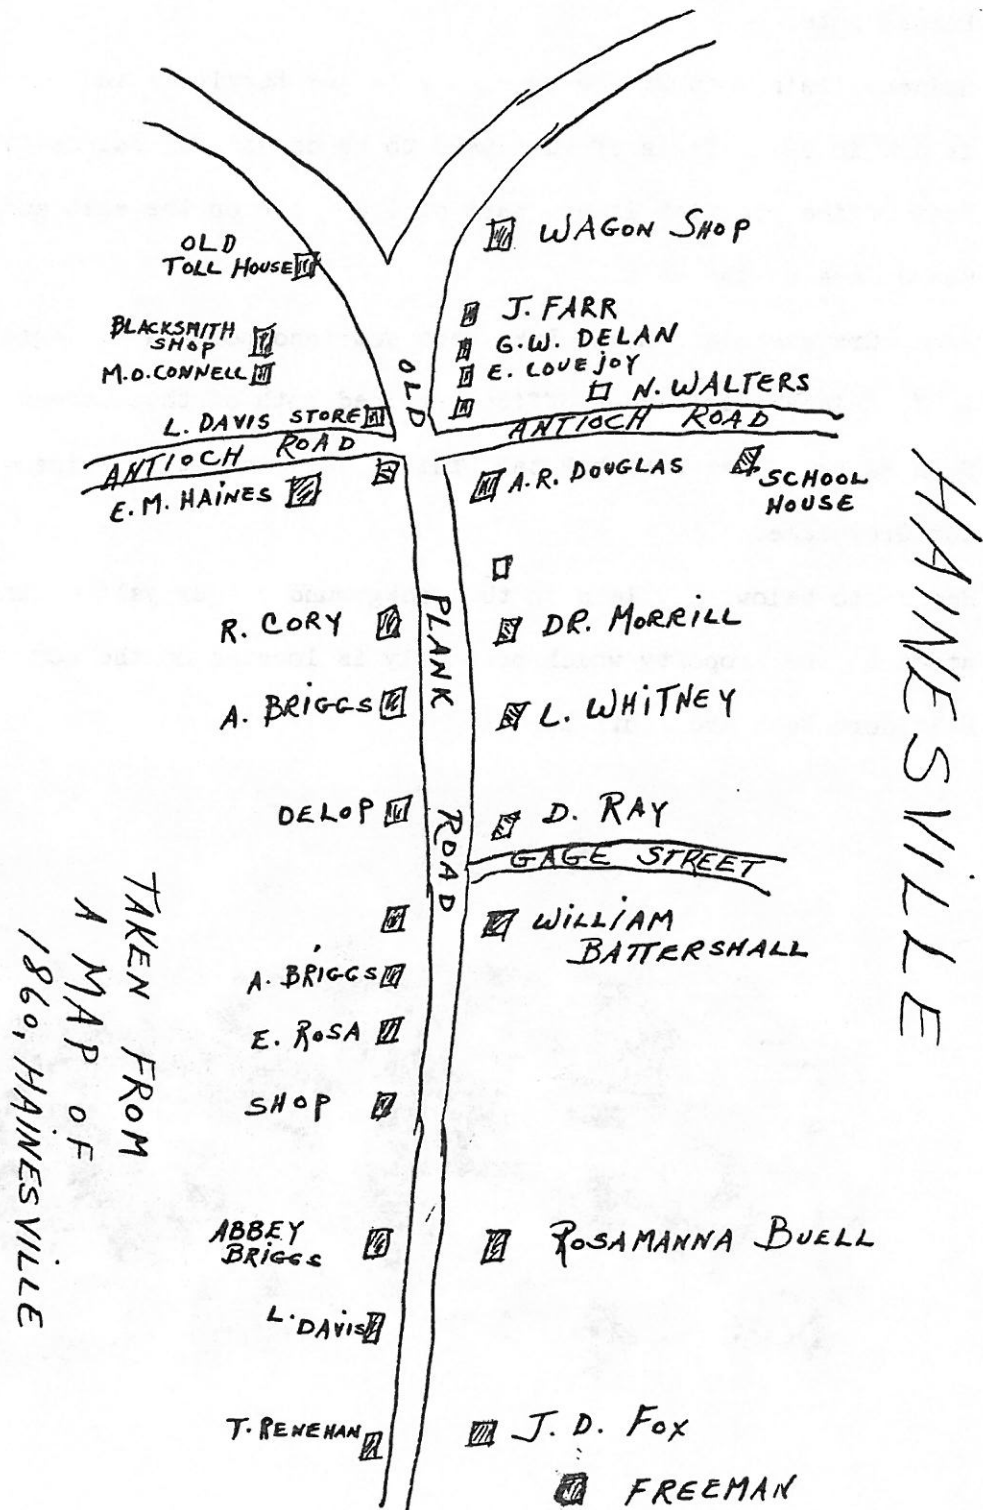

Hainesville's Post Office covered a larger territory in 1877 than it did in 1915. Parts of what used to be considered Hainesville's Post Office District is now part of Grayslake on the east and Round Lake on the west.

Since Grayslake and Round Lake were not incorporated villages in 1877, Hainesville's Post Office serviced both of these areas.

Such as the Slusser Park Hotel. This Hotel was not in Hainesville but Grayslake.

See Photo below. The lake in the background was Grayslake. This Hotel stood on the property which presently is located on the corner of Belvidere Road and Bluff Street.

Prominent Men of Avon Township, Hainesville, Lake County, Illinois

History reaches beyond the issue of battles of the effects of treaties and records the trials and the triumphs, the failures and the successes of the men who make history.

These following men whose lives were engrossed with struggle and triumphs, impulses and ambitions, have made Lake County what it is today.

These pioneers who came from widely scattered sources, impelled by different motives, were not very conscious of the import of their acts. They did not clearly anticipate the harvest which would spring from their sowing. They labored for a present existence, building their small cabins, and creating the foundation of private and future developments.

Magnificent results have been achieved through the labor, faith and ideas of those men.

Cable, George Beecher, Avon Township, Illinois

Mr. Cable was a farmer and a stock raiser. He was born in Michigan, on the 24th of May, 1858, son of David and Jane (Thompson) Cable. He was left an orphan in infancy, and his boyhood and youth were spent in Avon with George Thompson, his Maternal Grandfather. He was educated in the public schools and his life has been devoted mainly to farming in Avon Township.

Politically he was a Republican and served as school director for many years.

Mary Hart, daughter of Henry Hart, became his wife on the 22nd of February, 1882. They had one son, Henry David Cable.

Carfield, John; Rollins, Avon Township

Mr. Carfield was a farmer, born in Somersetshire, England, on the 15th of January, 1818. He came to the United States in 1849 and bought a farm. He spent the remainder of his life there.

He was married to Ann Kelland on the 27th of April, 1843. Their children are John, Jr., of Washington; Frances, widow of O. D. Sanborn of Chenoa; Caroline, wife of Mr. Hurlbutt, Libertyville; George of Paulina, Iowa; Isaranda; Justina, wife of A. W. Whitmore; and Sidney L.

Mr. Carfield once fell 276 ft. to the bottom of a shaft in England and escaped without a broken bone, probably the only instance of a like character in the world's history.

Domski, Henry; Grayslake, Avon Township

Mr. Domski was a farmer and born in Avon Township, on the 23rd of January, 1842.
